“Hal-Con is a great event, and an example of one of the best kinds of conventions.”

Paul MacKinnon – Downtown Halifax Business Commission

“Even events that have a very select audience still create a buzz throughout the entire city. Point in case is Hal-Con. When this sci-fi, comic book, and fantasy convention hits town, the streets are crawling with Klingons, Thors, Lokis, Buffy the Vampire Slayers, and Batman.”

TCLNS End of Year Report, 2013

VENDOR INFORMATION

Communication

Hal-Con will use the email address you provide during registration for all communication, including invoicing. If there is a change in email address after you apply, please update us as soon as possible. Please ensure you provide one that you check regularly. Information will also be posted on our website under: <http://hal-con.com/information-for-approved-vendors>

Photography / Videography

There will be video taken on site; by Hal-Con, by the media, by film students, and by attendees alike. If you are unwilling to be filmed – you should not enter the convention.

The Venue

We are located in the Halifax Convention Centre at 1650 Argyle Street; part of the Nova Centre complex.

Our layout for 2020 is similar to 2019. All vendors will be located on the fifth floor, including the food vendors.

Ballroom (Fifth Floor): This room is made up of 8x8, 8x10, and a few 8x16 booths, as well as 2x6 tables. The maximum display height in this room is 11 feet from the floor.

Foyer / Salon (Fifth Floor): The open space outside the Ballroom. This space previously had our GameDev Atlantic lounge and information booth, but has now been extended to feature more vendor spaces, food vendors, as well as our comic and author guests. This area is made up mostly of 2x6 tables. The maximum display height in this space is 11 feet from the floor.

APPLICATION INFORMATION

All applications to join Hal-Con as a vendor must be submitted via our website application form: <http://hal-con.com/become-a-vendor>

The application form will be live on the website starting at 12 pm (noon) Atlantic Time on Saturday, March 28th, 2019. Filling out an application to be a vendor at Hal-Con does not guarantee your acceptance. Prior attendance as a vendor does not guarantee your acceptance. You will be notified that your application has been received and receive a copy of your application by email. Please check that carefully and notify vendors@hal-con.com immediately if there is an error so that we can correct it.

Table sharing policy

We permit sharing, but both applicants must fill out an application and indicate their intention to share with each other at the time of applying. Vendors are not permitted to sell, sublet or otherwise divide their space without having explicit approval from Hal-Con. Failure to disclose information on the original application and have someone share your table at the event without prior approval of the vendor team will result in immediate dismissal, with no refund and jeopardizing your status at future events.

Should the primary table holder decide to cancel, two options are available:

- The secondary space holder may take it over the space as an individual. If the invoice is not yet paid, the balance is transferred to the name of the secondary space holder to be paid by the existing deadlines.

- Once the space is transferred to the secondary space holder, the only sharing option would be with the next eligible vendor from the approved waitlist, at the discretion of the Vendor Team.

Full Disclosure of Items for Sale

All vendors must disclose their intended sale inventory at the time of application and will be vetted by Halifax Police and the venue before acceptance. All goods must adhere to local bylaws.

Insurance

Vendors will be asked for private insurance information at the time of application. Any vendors who sell weapons, food, drink or other potentially hazardous materials will be required to show valid proof of private insurance and/or permits that cover their presence at the convention. Failure to produce said documents may result in immediate dismissal with no refund.

APPLICATION PROCESS

There was no early registration for Hal-con 2020. All vendors must apply when applications open in March.

Incomplete applications are not considered until complete applications have been reviewed, and will likely be waitlisted.

Please enter a link to your work when filling out the application, and it is helpful if you have photos of your display/setup there. If you do not have a portfolio or website, please email us photos of your work after filling out the application. This is mandatory.

We do curate the applications, looking for unique items. Applications are timestamped and we give preference to earlier applications when choosing between similar vendors.

- Please note, In order to be accepted as a vendor, you must be selling goods or services that align with pop culture, science fiction, fantasy, comic books, cosplay and/or gaming.
- Multi-level marketing firms are not accepted at Hal-Con.
- Hal-Con has a dedicated travel agent, and we are not accepting applications from other travel companies for our vendor floor.

We support local, Atlantic-based businesses and artists, but we also encourage vendors from outside our own area, from national and international locations, to apply and bring their unique artistry and retail vision to Hal-Con.

Waitlist

We do not number our waitlist. If spaces open up we look for something that is not already represented on our vendor list. The next step, to maintain the balance and variety, is to replace a vendor with the same type of vendor; e.g. if a comic vendor withdraws, we will look for another comic vendor to replace them.

Copyright/unlicensed items

Hal-Con strives to be a forum where artists can sell their original work and good quality merchandise is available for sale. As a vendor, you are expected to hold all appropriate permissions for any merchandise you have for sale, and Hal-Con will comply with any requests from copyright holders and/or original artists to have that merchandise removed. If you are asked to remove a specific item and you do not comply, you will be asked to leave without refund.

PAYMENT

Non-Refundable Deposits

The deposit is a minimum 25% of the cost for your space. This is payable within two weeks of being invoiced. Without a deposit, Hal-Con will not hold your space. We have a significant waitlist. Non-payment of the deposit will result in your space being reallocated.

Methods of Payment

Invoices are sent through Quickbooks (online software) to your email. Our preferred payment method is via credit card directly through Quickbooks. Directions for email transfers will be on your invoice. Arrangements can be made to pay by cheque or money order by contacting vendors@hal-con.com in advance. Cash is not accepted.

HST is applicable (GST/HST: 811623024RT0001).

Cancellation Policy

The 25% deposit is non-refundable at all times.

Cancellation prior to June 30 will result in a 75% refund.

Cancellation between July 1 and July 31 will result in a refund of 50%.

Cancellation between August 1 and August 30 will result in a refund of 25%.

Cancellation after August 30 is non-refundable.

Should the convention be cancelled for reasons other than war, fire, strike, government regulation, public catastrophe, anything considered to be an Act of God, Terrorism, Force Majeur, or the public enemy; you will be refunded the balance of all your payments. Refunds will not exceed the amount paid at any time. The refund will be provided to the original credit card used. Other methods of payment will be refunded by cheque and sent by mail.

RULES FOR VENDORS

All vendors are subject to adhere to the policies listed on the Hal-Con website and in the programme guide (available on the website). These are subject to change.

Anti-Harassment & Anti-Bullying Policy

Reporting harassment or inappropriate behaviour

Please reach out to any Hal-Con volunteer or convention centre staff to report the behaviour and our senior volunteers will handle the issue with discretion.

Definitions

Hal-Con is dedicated to providing a harassment-free (including bullying-free) convention experience for everyone regardless of gender, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, or religion. We do not tolerate harassment or bullying of convention participants (including attendees, press, exhibitors, volunteers, staff, etc.) in any form. Demeaning or harassing sexual language and imagery is not appropriate for any convention venue, including talk. Anyone violating these rules may be sanctioned or expelled from the convention, without a refund, at the discretion of the convention organizers.

Harassment includes offensive verbal comments, (related to gender, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, religion, etc.) sexual images in public spaces, deliberate intimidation, stalking, following, harassing photography or recording, sustained disruption of talks or other events, inappropriate physical contact and unwelcome sexual attention. Participants asked to stop any harassing behavior are expected to comply immediately.

Vendors/exhibitors are also subject to the anti-harassment policy. In particular, they should not use overtly sexualized images, activities, or other material. Booth staff, including volunteers, are encouraged not to use overly sexualized clothing/ uniforms/ costumes, or otherwise create a highly sexualized environment.

If a participant engages in harassing behavior, the convention organizers may take any action they deem appropriate, including warning the offender or expelling them from the convention without refund. If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please contact a member of convention staff immediately. Convention staff can be identified by their volunteer shirts/ special badges/ headsets, and can be reached by the contact information on your vendor badge.

Convention staff will be happy to help participants contact venue security or local law enforcement, provide escorts, or otherwise assist those experiencing harassment to feel safe for the duration of the convention.

Displays & Item Sales

- Hal-Con is a family friendly convention. Any materials of a mature nature for sale or distribution may result in the offending materials being removed. Refusal to remove the offending materials may result in expulsion from the convention, without invitation to return and without reimbursement.
- Your displays may not open on to another vendor's space. Your customers cannot stand in your neighbours' space and browse your wares; that is unfair to your fellow vendors and creates confusion for attendees.
- If your display includes high-sided shelving, any sides facing another vendor's booth must be covered. Only the side facing into your own space can be visible to buyers, unless you are on an open corner space with no vendor next to you.
- Displays must comply with the height limits described in this document for each Vendor Area. If your display differs from this please contact the vendor team and we will check if we can have it approved by the venue.
- Vendors must ensure all materials remain in their permitted space and do not interfere with human traffic flow or safe passage clearances established by the venue.
- Vendor displays shall not inhibit the view of other vendors. If this occurs, you will be asked to adjust your display.
- If your display includes sound, music, lights, or videos, Hal-con staff reserves the right to ask you to lower the volume or adjust the display so as not to impact other vendors or attendees.

- Vendors must endeavor to keep their space free of debris and/or materials that may be unsightly. Our vendor team circulates and will be happy to remove garbage for you.
- Please note there is no backdrop or pipe and drape surrounding tabletop spaces. vendors may be back-to-back with common space between them. If you are bringing free standing equipment to display signage or goods, you may not impede the space of other vendors.
- Tabletop spaces have a minimum of four feet behind them. You must keep a two-foot walkway clear at all times so that other vendors can pass through behind you.

Sales of Weapons

Hal-Con permits the sale of weapons, however sellers adhere to strict guidelines.

- Vendors selling weapons must be aware of, agree to, and comply with, Hal-Con's weapon policy (follows).
- Weapons sold must be packaged for transport in a non-lethal fashion (ex. wrapped in a manner that protects other attendees).
- Purchased weapons may only be picked up upon exiting the convention, from the coat check area.
- You must provide a complete inventory list in advance that will be reviewed by Halifax Regional Police.
- All vendors selling weapons of any kind are required to have security personnel for the duration of the convention. Additional security will be organized by Hal-Con. The cost of additional security will be passed on to the weapons vendors at a cost of $25 per hour, for each hour the vendor floor is open to the public. Overnight security is onsite and provided by the venue. Hal-Con will locate weapons vendors in the same area to minimize security needs.
- If you do not declare your intention to sell weapons upon application and are accepted as a vendor, but choose to sell weapons, you will be removed from the event without compensation. This will include forfeiture of all entitlements from purchasing your booth (ex. vendor badges, setting up your space, listing on Hal-Con's website, etc). Please be advised that both the venue and the Halifax Regional Police Department patrol the site to inspect merchandise for sale.
- Any vendor selling items or weapons prohibited under Nova Scotia or Canadian law may have those items taken without compensation by Halifax Police, venue representatives, security, event staff, or other officials.

Food Vendors

Food vendors should align with our 'geeky' theme and must be prepared to handle the large attendance of our convention. Food and drink vendors require private insurance to cover any incidents that may occur. You will be asked to present proof of this insurance upon acceptance.

Should a Food Safety inspector visit the event, food vendors may be asked to provide their food sellers permit as proof that their goods were manufactured in a certified kitchen. Have your permit readily available.

Badges

- All vendors must wear their badges as identification at all times while on-site. This includes while in costume. Venue staff will not provide admittance to anyone without a pass.

- Vendor badges give the same access as regular weekend passes, plus early access to the vendor floor only during set-up times. They do not have any other perks. A vendor badge will not permit you to skip lines or enter specially-ticketed events.
- Hal-Con provides two (2) vendor badges with each full space purchased for use by vendors and staff. Vendor badges are transferable among staff, although the transfer must be made outside the convention; no one will be permitted inside without a badge. Vendor badges are only to be used by individuals working the vendor space.
- In 2020, we will allow the purchase of one (1) additional weekend pass per vendor space when you submit your vendor application. Limited numbers are available. After May 15, there will be no further opportunity to purchase additional vendor passes. You would need to purchase a day or weekend pass through our regular ticket sale process. Please note weekend passes sell quickly, do not delay.
- Replacement badges will not be reissued if your badge is lost or stolen.

Security & First Aid

- Uniformed and undercover security will be present on-site during the convention show hours and after-hours; however, Hal-Con is not responsible for property loss or damage.
- The vendor floors will be secured and guarded by posted security during non-vendor show hours. Re-entry to attendees and vendors will not be permitted. Once the vendor areas have closed, you will have 30 minutes to finalize your area, after which you will not be permitted to remain in those areas, but are welcome to explore the other areas of the convention, provided you are displaying your vendor pass.
- First Aid volunteers will be available on-site to respond to any medical needs until such time as the nature of the emergency can be determined.
- If you see or experience a medical emergency immediately get in touch with venue staff, security, or a Hal-Con Volunteer and we will get emergency services to respond.

Code of Conduct (please refer to the Hal-Con Anti-Harassment Policy above)

- Violence, or the threat of violence, will not be tolerated. Any complaints received may result in expulsion from the convention, without invitation to return and without reimbursement of monies paid.
- Nudity is not permitted.
- Profanity will not be tolerated. Any complaints received may result in expulsion from the convention, without invitation to return and without reimbursement of monies paid.
- Your identification must remain visible at ALL times.
- Vendors in costume must comply with Hal-Con weapon policies and costume policies at all times. Vendors must comply with security personnel if requested to remove part of their costume to ensure the safety of attendees.

Other Rules

- Hal-Con assumes no liability for loss or damage to vendor goods at any time during the convention, including load-in and tear down. Hal-Con staff and volunteers are not permitted to handle the goods of any vendor, including packing up or unloading vehicles.
- Upon being accepted to Hal-con, vendors agree to have their space occupied during all hours that the vendor floor is open. Vendors should not leave early, show up unreasonably late, or leave their space unattended for extended periods of time. Each full-sized space comes with two vendor badges and extras can be purchased if necessary to staff your space. If a vendor needs a short break to attend a panel, use the washroom, get food, etc, Hal-con staff and volunteers are available to watch your merchandise. Hal-con staff and volunteers can only sit at the table/booth for you and will not handle merchandise or perform any transactions. Please flag down a volunteer if you need a break, or contact the vendor team by email if you need to be away for an extended period.

- Vendors shall observe and obey all Canadian laws, the by-laws of the municipality of Halifax, and rules imposed by the Venue. Should a vendor be found in violation of these laws or rules, prior to the convention or during, it may result in expulsion from the convention without reimbursement of monies paid.
- Vendors and their staff shall not defame, slander or otherwise harm the integrity of the convention through spoken, physical, electronic, written or any other means, at any time. Should a vendor be found to be in violation, this will result in expulsion from the convention without reimbursement of monies paid, and will not be permitted to return in future years.
- Raffle tickets can be sold but they must be licensed by the province with the license number clearly displayed on the ticket. We expect Alcohol and Gaming will be on site periodically and may inspect raffle tickets for adherence to regulation.
- Vendors will not sublet or apportion their "space" without the written consent of Hal-Con. If you are sharing space with another vendor, they must fill out the application form with full details disclosed as to the products being sold. After the original application is submitted and approved, requests for changes/additions must be submitted via email to
- vendors@hal-con.com (please review the table sharing policy indicated in this document to gain approval for sharing).
- Any artwork based on professionally-released material must be labelled as 'reproductions.'
- Open flames, or devices which utilize an open flame, are not permitted in the venue.
- All promotional activities will be limited to your space; Hal-Con must be informed of and pre-approve activities beyond traditional sales of merchandise and other items.
- Vendors must exercise discretion that any items displayed not cause great offense to attendees.
- All vendors, once approved by the Vendor team, are subject to review by the venue and the Halifax Police Department. Should either of those reviews decline a vendor, Hal-Con will abide by that decision, and will not intervene.
